Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Some of the newspaper commentators on war events are more canny than others. One or two do not fall for the dismay and gloom which various propagandist organizations now are so industriously spreading. These one or two happen to think along lines followed in this column. There is plenty of room, of course, for apprehension among all thoughtful people, regarding our domestic policies, the constant obstruction to an all out defense effort offered by saboteurs and radicals in labor organizations, but the outlook abroad is not so black as commonly painted.

As we read the portents in the news, the hour grows later and later for Herr Hitler. Note, for instance, that since the all out air struggle for Crete, which brought victory for the Germans, bomb pulverizing of British cities has greatly diminished. Why? Well, it seems to us that a reasonable inference would be that German air forces have been largely concentrated in the Mediteranean area. Now of course, Hitler can return those air forces whenever he chooses to his air fields in France, Belgium and Holland. In fact he can shuttle them back and forth as he wills. But he has not been doing it so far as we may judge from bombing reports. The reason we think is that planes flying long distances between airports burn a lot of very valuable gasoline. They consume, mile for mile, just as much in non-combatant traveling as they do on errands of destruction. We suspect that if Hitler still had abundant supplies of gasoline, he would shift planes hither and yon, straffing the British Isles at frequent intervals as well as striking hard blows at British strongholds in the Mediteranean regions.

This is one instance, it seems to us where a little analysis of the facts, filtering over the wires from the war arena indicate that Hitler is not doing so well. We have always contended that the thinner the Germans spread their troops, the weaker and more vulnerable their position becomes. Invasion results in the destruction of war supplies, the disruption of communications, and bitter stirring of hatreds among those invaded. The invasion of Rumania, Bulgaria, and Yugoslavia, especially the last has undoubtedly reduced the flow of food, ores and oil into German industrial centers. Huge armies moved into these countries probably consume all the surplus food, and hamper, when they do not destroy, the agricultural and industrial economies of the victim nations.

Our news of the war and conclusions drawn from events reported move in cycles of gloom or rejoicing. When the British put the Italians to rout through Lybia and beyond, commenators generally assured their readers that tht tide had turned, that Britain was now ready to give the Germans a terrific walloping in the Mediteranean, and having whipped them there, would be able to send part of its naval forces to aid in the battle in the Atlantic. Now we hear that the British still resolutely determined on eventual victory are becoming discouraged. Their resistance is "brittle," and near the breaking point. Peace, a negotiated peace, is being discussed as a possibility. To us this sort of talk is just baloney. We believe it originates in wishful thinking and propaaganda by German agencies in this country.

One thing that does seem certain in this new cycle of news interpretation, a gloomy cycle, is that the United States is not getting supplies to the British either fast enough or in sufficient volume. That failure we can place squarely on the President's shoulders. He has almost as much power as Mr. Hitler. He does not delegate his power to capable men who could get results, he makes noble speeches by the fire-side, and he postpones decisions and actions on such crucial matters as radical labor obstruction in all of the vital defense industries. He can't make up his mind, and when he does, there is a chance that he will have done so too late.

Death Comes To Charles Wm. Leiter

Prominent Nevada City Businessman Succumbs To Longstanding Illness

DECEASED WAS ACTIVE IN ROTARY AND ELKS HERE, ALSO FORMER CITY COUNCILMAN

Death yesterday afternoon came suddenly to Charles W. Leiter, local businessman, just when it appeared he was well on his way to recovery from an attack of illness which had confined him to his home practically continuously since last January.

The death of Leiter marked the passing of one of this city's most prominent civic leaders. The deceased was formerly a city councilman.

Leiter took an active interest in the affairs of Nevada City since his arrival here 17 years ago. During that time he operated the Nevada City Garage and an automobile agency.

Leiter was especially active in the Rotary Club and Elks Lodge of this city. He was also a member of Sequioa Lodge of Masons of Oakland and the Woodmen of the World of Oakland.

Many of his close friends will serve as honorary pallbearers at his funeral, which will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Elks Home here.

The honorary pallbearers include: R. N. McCormack, John W. O'Neill, Robert E. Carr, Ed C. Uren, Dr. E. M. Roesner, Fred Reed, E. J. Ott, Charles Wyant, Frank Wright, C. O. Brown, Dave Richards and Horace Curnow.

Following the funeral the body will be taken to Oakland where cremation will be held. There will be a short service at the Mt. View Chapel at 1:30 a. m. Wednesday. Local arrangements for the services are being handled by the Hooper-Weaver Mortuary of Grass Valley.

Relatives left to mourn the passing of the popular local businessman are his wife, Elizabeth Leiter of this city. a son, Shattuck Leiter, Oakland aviator, his mother, Mrs. Dora Leiter of Oakland, a sister, Mrs. May Scudder of Oakland and three brothers, George, Clarence and Raymond Leiter, all of Oakland.

Mine Workers League Expels Two A. F. L. Men

Edward Hamilton, president of the Gold Miners Union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, and George Starbird, active in the AFL organization, were expelled from the Nevada County Mine Workers Protective League at last Thursday's meeting. Both were members of the MYPL as well as the AFL union.

The two men were found guilty of violation of the constitution and by-laws of the league, Nevada County independent labor union and bargaining agent for all mines in this area except the Lava Cap.

President Olney Donnelly of the league said Hamilton and Starbird were charged with using their membership in the league to further another organization. He said they were cited to appear before a trial committee to defend themselves but they failed to appear at the time set.

The membership of the league also ballotted on amendments to the protective league constitution. A final vote will be taken at the next meeting. The nature of the amendments have not been made public.

President Hamilton of the AFL union was injured underground at the New Brunswick Mine when a rock fell on his head. It required five stitches to close a wound in his head.

Nevada City Ball Squad Beats Grass Valley Nine

Nevada City's Foothill League baseball team continued its winning ways yesterday, trouncing the Grass Valley Braves at Grass Valley by a score of 8 to 5.

The hero of Nevada City's victory was William Livesay, who relieved Pitcher Cooper in the first inning. Livesay, despite the handicap of a broken finger on his pitching hand, set the Braves back with five hits the eight innings he pitched and in doing it chalked up 11 strikeouts, 8 of them coming in the first three innings.

Hobart Childers and Jack Bloomquist each banged out three hits in five trips to the plate. Ainsley Fouyer and Mel Stinson also hit well.

The score:	R	H	E
Nevada City	8	13	2
Grass Valley	5	8	1

Batteries: Cooper, Livesay and Fouyer; Leary and Cukjati.

GRASS VALLEY TAKES GAME FROM OAKS

Manager Archie Campbell of the Grass Valley Miners took the mound yesterday for his team when Wally Turpin, regular hurler, failed to appear. Campbell turned in one of the best pitched games in the Sacramento Valley League this year, shutting out the Woodland Oaks, 6 to 0.

Heavy hitting by Dick Hoskins and Clyde Mourfield, each with three hits, provided the punch in the Miners attack.

In other Valley League games, Marysville beat Chico, 1 to 0, to keep the league lead, and Redding defeated Yuba City 10 to 9.

The Grass Valley-Woodland score:

Grass Valley	6	12	5
Woodland	0	4	2

Batteries: Campbell and Mourfield; Valine and King.

SIX POUND FISH CAUGHT SUNDAY BY E. KENDRICK

Nevada City Whole Heartedly Behind USO Benefit High Jinx

Nevada City is giving whole-hearted support to the United States Organizations high jinks and fund raising entertainment to be held Saturday, Flag Day, at the Veterans Memorial Building in Grass Valley.

Admission tickets to the affair are being sold for 25 cents each. Those who can afford it are urged to buy more than one.

Besides musical and dancing entertainment there will be games of all sorts to play. Practically all the civic and fraternal organizations in the county are cooperating in the staging of the event.

Final plans for the affair will be made at a meeting Thursday night in Grass Valley at the Veterans Memorial Building.

A Nevada City delegation headed by Mayor Ben Hall, attended a meeting in Grass Valley Saturday night to make plans for the benefit. Others in the delegation included H. F. Sofge, George Calanan, H. E. Kjorlie, Walter Carlson and Mrs. George Sandow.

The proceeds from the USO benefit will be used to provide recreation and entertainment for our nation's military training forces.

An Open Letter To Hitler

The following open letter appeared on the editorial page of the May 30 issue of the Represa Sports-Ttlegram, published at the state prison at Folsom. It needs no further introduction or comment.

Herr Hitler:

On May 18 the Associated Press wires carried to every corner of the United States ,and to you, too, Adolph) the story of "1,000 beaver-busy prisoners" in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta who had boosted their production-for-defense 100 per cent in 30 days.

And it didn't take whips or guns to get the boys to go to work, Adolph. We don't expect you to understand that, though. A little talk by the warden, who explained the nation's needs, did the trick, When the boys learned that that stuff they put out would be used to defeat you and your mob, they let out a heartfelt whoop of joy and went to work.

The announcement of the step-up in production at Atlanta inspired your stooges, your propaganda mongers, to cook up an editorial to which they gave the highly revealing title, "Roosevelt Mobilizes Convicts Against Hitler — Murderers and Thieves Arm in Arm with the U. S. President."

Of course, we didn't read your editorial, Adolph, but we didn't have to. We could imagine its contents from the odor of its title. It had the same odor as a lot of solemn promises you and your mob made to your neighbors. It had the same odor as your pacts, your word of honor.

And to have your stooges call the boys in Atlanta "murderers and thieves," h-m-m. Don't you think you were hitting mighty close to home there?

But, at that, you were right about the boys at Atlanta. Some of them are there for killing in a moment of passion. And there are some of them there for stealing a few dollars.

But, Adolph, when you go to bed at night and lie there in the dark (or are you afraid of the dark?) and think of Europe's millions of starving, homeless, enslaved people, the thousands and thousands dead, the grief, the broken homes, the orphans, the cripples, the people who hate you and your ruthless, murdering gang and all that you stand for, Just What Is It That You Call Yourself?

Or, don't you have a conscience?

People, Adolph, are best judged by the company they keep. Ordinarily murderers and thieves, compared with you and some of the people with whom you connive and associate, are considered the salt of the earth. Your friend Quisling, for example, who double-crossed his own people and his own country for a handful of silver and the privilege of carrying out your orders. He must be a fine companion for you. You two must have much in common. And most of your pals smell no sweeter than Quisling.

Over here the murderers and thieves started calling the stool pigeons and double-crossers among them "Quislings." But the name was even too odorous, too harsh for them.

We read dispatches frm Europe of increasing unrest and sabotage among all the people you have enslaved, which, of course, includes your own. This is in indication, Adolph that the people don't like you, your ideas, your methods.

Upon reading the title of the editorial referred to above, we wondered if it wasn't inspired by jealousy, Jealously of a system of government that inspires Convicts to do all in their power to aid it, protect it.

No effort, Adolph, no sacrifice would be too great for us to make against You, Your Mob, Your System. We pray that our government will see fit to give every one of us convicts a chance to do something to defeat you. And, as in the workshops at Atlanta, no better inspiration for utmost effort could be devised than a frowning picture of you ever before us bearing the caption—"Help Defeat Him." —The Staff.

Receiving Deserving Congratulations

The Yuba City Independent, published by Otis V. Sweetland and A. A. McMullen, recently issued its 60th anniversary edition.

"Without question," the Colfax Record states, "this edition is the best printed anniversary number of any weekly newspaper we have ever seen."

And that sentiment is shared by this paper as well as many other publications, considering the congratulatory messages being sent into the Independent.

WITH YOUR ASSEMBLYMAN THURMAN AT THE STATE CAPITOL

We are seated at our desk in the assembly chamber as we write these lines, Sunday, while the business of the house is proceeding slowly under a stopped clock. Saturday was the last day on which bills originating in the assembly could be considered by that house. This week each house can consider only bills originating in the opposite house. The senate can only consider assembly bills while the lower house can consider only senate bills. Any change in this procedure will require a three fourths vote of the elected members which would be 60 votes.

While we write these lines there is a small sit down strike in progress with 12 members representing the administration refusing to vote on appropriations bills. The sitdown strike came about as the result of the action of some 33 assemblymen and 17 senators who have served notice on the administration forces that they will vote no more funds for the continuation of the State Relief Administration. This group favor the return of the administration of relief to the counties and have pledged themelves to eliminate what they call a political cancer. They favor allocating additional funds to the counties for old age pension and other county aids. The administration members who are refusing to vote, favor the continuation of the SRA.

By the time this article appears in print the deadlock will of course have been broken and by Saturday or Sunday of this week, the 1941 session of the legislature should adjourn sine die.

The oustanding legislative battle of last week was the fight to override the governor's veto of the hot cargo and econdary boycott bill in the lower house. After one of the hottest legislative battles in recent years the fight to protect agriculture was won by a vote of 54 to 26. The assembly was under a "call of the house" until 4 a. m. Friday. At 3 a. m. the vote stood 53 to 27 in favor of overriding the veto. At 4 a. m. Assemblyman Sheridan of Alameda County changed his vote from no to aye with the result the veto was overridden and S. B. 877 became a law.

Assembly Bill 2006 by Cain, relative to alleged water pollution by dredges, which in its original form, caused considerable concern to the gold mining interests was completely rewritten and amended with the result that there is little left in the bill of harmful nature. The bill is now in the senate committee on natural resources where it will be given careful consideration and if the mining interests have any further objections to the bill, you can be assured that senators Seawell, Mayo and Brown, all of whom are members of this committee, will see to it that the bill will either be amended or tabled.

To Study At Oregon—

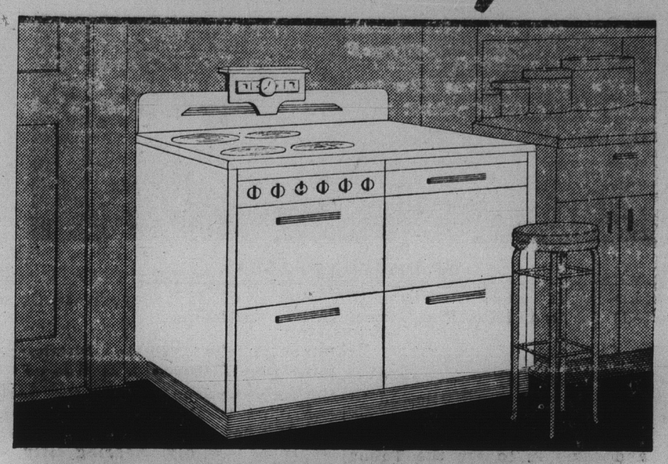
Electric Cookery is "CLEAN" as Electric Light



Millions Now Enjoy Electric Ranges!

Have a picture book kitchen, clean and bright and modern. Start right with a modern electric range. Select any one of the new models from a variety of makes. They are all good ranges. They are all priced reasonably low. And anyone of the new 1941 models will cook with all the speed you would want food to cook. Then no matter if your kitchen is painted white or some light cheerful color do not worry about the paint getting smudgy and dirty looking in a short time. Your electric range cooks with heat from glowing coils that are clean and dependable as electric light.

Millions of American women now cook the modern electric way. They like the simplicity of operation of the electric range. They like the way the top units come up to cooking speed quickly at the snap of a switch. They like the perfect broiling and roasting in the ovens. They like the automatic time and temperature controls that take care of oven dinners or baking. And they like the economy of electric cooking, too.

Why not cook the modern way...with electricity? Here in California electricity is cheap for cooking. You will be amazed at how little it costs to operate one of the new 1941 electric ranges.

"TRAILER VAGABOND"

By WARREN BAYLEY

This feature appears through the courtesy of O. K. Tire Weld Co. G. R. (Red) Jarrard, Hills Flat, Grass Valley, California.

Denver, Colorado.

Leaving the trailer at the edge of town, because you aren't allowed to park them within the city limits, we scowled at the sudden, spring cold snap and came in to see the Tabor Opera House. This building reflects the wild prosperity of Denver's early days more than any other local structure.

It was built by a man who came here practically broke and remained to amass $15,000,000 worth of silver. Generous, he squandered money at the rate of $100 an hour for a period of 14 years. Lucky, he bought a supposedly worthless mine for $1,000, which made him a fortune and wound up as a $10,000 000 capitalization on Wall Street. That he died almost penniless only adds a bizarre touch to the most colorful career of this city's pioneer days. His name was H. A. W. Tabor and his vast fortune was founded on a $64.75 loan.

Haw, as his many friends called him, was a lowly, eastern stone-cutter of thirty when the gold rush to Pikes Peak drew him westward in 1859. Denver was a collection of 200 tents and cabins. Tabor became an unsuccessful prospector and his wife the eleventh woman in town.

Turning his talents to nearby California Gulch, he opened a frontier store in that boisterous camp, prospered and became mayor. He changed the town's name to Leadville and began to grubstake down-and-outers.

Outfitting a pair of hopeful gold prospectors at a cost of $64.75, he automatically acquired a third interest in the "Little Pittsburgh" mine they discovered. It was one of the richest silver finds in the world.

Moving to Denver to enjoy his $80,000 per month income, he spent freely and wildly. Nearing fifty, he became Lieutenant Governor of the State and later, for the brief span of 30 days, was a Senator in Washington, which was overwhelmed by his lavish display of wealth.

Few investments proved sound but he was making too much money to care. The Tabor Opera House was his last big venture. Cherry wood came from Japan, silks and brocades from Italy, and tapestries from France, all to adorn its luxurious, mirrored and gilt interior. Five stories of brick and lime-stone, with a corner tower again as high, it cost a million dollars. Yet within three years the man couldn't even afford the price of a ticket to this palace he soon lost.

The silver market crashed in 1884. Tabor had been spending money as fast as it came in. A million dollars worth of petty debts were chalked up against him. His numerous mining and mahogany investments in Mexico and Central America were worthless. Tabor was wiped out.

Influential friends finally saved him from starvation by having him appointed the local postmaster at $3,500 a year—a sum he'd often won or lost at the turn of a card.

Just before the turn of the century he died, a man of modest means and many memories — leaving his magnificant Opera House, now a movie theatre, a monument to a miner's luck.

City Council Will Meet Thursday To Act Upon Request For Airport Funds And To Name Swim Pool Life Guard

Board Refers Petition of Jordan Street Residents For Improvement Of Street To Superintendent Of Public Works Herb Hallett

The city council Thursday night adjourned its regular meeting to next Thursday night, at which time they will take action on the Chamber of Commerce's request for funds to remove the "hump" in the Nevada City Airport and name a lifeguard for the local swimming pool as well as select a date for the pool's opening.

Lambert Thomas, director of the Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the council on the airport improvement request. Previously, President Guerdon Ellis of the chamber had outlined the work necessary and the advantages to the city if the improvement was made.

Councilman Frank Davies expressed himself as in favor of appropriating $2,000 for the "hump" elimination but the matter was placed over until Thursday night, when the council hopes to have a better understanding of the citizenry in general on the project.

Mayor Ben Hall announced the USO quota for Nevada City has been set at $800. Secretary H. F. Sofge of the local chamber of commerce urged the attendance of the councilmen at a general county USO meeting to discuss plans for a mammoth celebration to raise funds.

The council oppropriated $50 towards a diphtheria innoculation project for Nevada City after a delegation appeared before the city fathers seeking a $100 appropriation.

The council adopted an ordinance setting up a Recreation Commission for the city. The ordinance is in line with the intentions to secure a Works Project Administration recrational program for this city.

A petition of Jordan Street residents asking the council authorize "vital and needed repairs to the entire length of Jordan Street" was referred to City Superintendent of Public Works Herbert Hallett.

The petition pointed out that:

"1—Jordan Street is badly in need of repair, being rough and unsurfaced, has chuck holes and deep ruts.

"2—There is and has been a growing popuation along the street who use it as well as others who might become builders of homes along its length.

"3—Jordan Street in its present condition is not only a disgrace to the city but its condition affords a dangerous and serious hazard to those driving cars over it.

"4—Any inspection of the said Jordan Street will confirm the facts above set forth."

The council ordered the payment of the following claims against the city for May:

Sam Hooper $115.00; Max Solaro $96.50; Geo. H. Calanan $20.00; H. S. Hallett $170.00; Lionel Davies $135.00; C G. Bonivert $135.00; Al Sommers $135.00; Dr. E. M. Roesner $40.00; Miles D. 'THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER' NEXT WEEK IN SACTO.

Light opera comes to Northern California June 16th when John Charles Thomas, baritone; blond and glamorous Hope Manning, soprano; Irra Petina, of the Metropolitan and Eric Mattson combine their popular vocal talents to produce "The Chocolate Soldier". Oscar Straus masterpiece will be heard in Memorial Auditorium, Sacramento.

The operetta, probably the most popular in its field, is based on the story of George Bernard Shaw's play, "Arms and the Man" in which the "chocolate soldier" seeks refuge from the enemy in the boudoir of the fair heroine. It was produced in America for the first time in the New York Casino in September in 1909, at which time it ran 275 times, and has been revived several times since then.

My Hero, The Letter Song, Sympathy and That Would Most Lovely Be will be among the old favorites heard. New lyrics have been written by Ann Ronell for the production, and new thrills and humor added to step up the production to today's pace.

Billy Gilbert, screen comedian, will be seen in the comic role of "Col. Popoff."

Tickets for the "Chocolate Soldier" are on sale now at the Ware-Hazelton box office in Weinstock-Lubin's, Sacramento.

This sparkling beauty is just one of the amazing 1941 Kelvinator values—values that save you as much as $30 compared with last year when Kelvinator prices were reduced from $30 to $60. It's all due to the enormous success of Kelvinator's new, less expensive way of doing business. Let us show you these refrigerators of tomorrow—today! Prices start at $129.75
